A.R.P. Cleansing Station at Aberdeen, courtesy Aberdeen Corporation

If in an emergency every user of warm water at the cleansing station is free to play about with the hot water supply as he likes, making a blend to suit himself, there won't be much left in the hot tank after one or two cases.

The best way to prevent this is to fit a Leonard-Thermostatic Water Mixing Valve. You can then fix the temperature of the warm and leave it. The Valve will hold it there. You can lock it if you like. No matter how the temperature piles up in the hot water tank or what fluctuations occur in the supply pressures the thermostat in the Valve will deliver water only at the prescribed temperature. The user gets the water instantly at the right temperature and there is no waste.

Further, the temperature in the tank can be put up. Usually it is kept down to 120°F or thereabouts for fear of scalding. There is no fear of scalding with a Leonard-Thermostatic Water Mixing Valve. The thermostat will not let water through the Valve hotter than the fixed temperature. The water in the tank can be put up to 200°F or anything short of boiling. It is being done every day.

In this way the capacity of the station can be nearly doubled. The number of cases a station can deal with depends on the amount of warm water it can produce in an emergency. If you can double that amount you double the capacity of the station.

Leonard Valves are coming into use more widely every day. In factories and schools for showers, ranges of hand-basins and washing troughs, circular fountains.

In hospitals for showers, infants' and children's baths, continuous treatment baths, surgeons' hand-basins, X-Ray film washing tanks, dental sprays.

In Public Baths for pre-cleansing showers and foot-sprays, shampoo and massage sprays, and douches in Turkish Baths; in military and naval establishments, police stations, prisons, A.R.P. cleansing stations and first-aid posts.

Leonard-Thermostatic Valves have been specified by more than a hundred leading Architects. They have been adopted as standard equipment by thirty County Councils and two hundred Municipalities.

There is a Rawlplug of a size and type for every class of work, from the fixing of curtains and blinds to the holding down of heavy machinery and other fixtures where a strain of over 20 tons may have to be contended with.

The War Office, Air Force, Admiralty, G.P.O., Metropolitan Police, L.C.C., and Municipal Authorities everywhere, have universally adopted Rawlplug Fixing Devices. They can be used for securing A.R.P. shutters, swing shutters, black-out curtains, partitions, electric light fittings, clothes racks, brackets for fire equipment, seats, ventilation, and air filtration appliances, etc.

Blast, Splinters and Flying Glass :

The best way to obtain protection against blast, splinters and shattered glass is to fit metal or wooden shutters over the windows. At nights, shutters serve the dual purpose of protecting against blast and obscuring the light, thus obviating the need for blinds or curtains. Rawlbolts or Rawlplugs ensure that these shutters are fixed quickly and absolutely securely without damage to walls or decorations.

EMPLOYMENT, WAGES, COST OF LIVING, AND TRADE DISPUTES IN SEPTEMBER.

EMPLOYMENT* AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

THE outbreak of the war created new demands for labour, but at the same time caused some dislocation affecting the employment of workpeople in many directions.

At 11th September, 1939, the total number of persons on the registers of Employment Exchanges in Great Britain showed an increase of 99,236 as compared with 14th August. The number of males on the register decreased by 75,745, while the number of females increased by 174,981. In London and the South-East of England there were increases among both males and females. An appreciable part of the increase among females, however, was accounted for by the registration of evacuated women and of others offering their services for work in connection with the war.

*Numbers Wholly Unemployed (excluding Persons normally in Casual Employment).—*At 11th September, 1939, there were 1,052,218 persons on the registers of Employment Exchanges in Great Britain who were out of a situation. This was 84,110 more than at 14th August, 1939, but 271,933 less than at 12th September, 1938.

*Numbers Temporarily Stopped.—*At 11th September, 1939, there were registered as unemployed in Great Britain 227,099 persons who were on short time or otherwise temporarily suspended from work. This was 15,121 more than at 14th August, 1939, but 185,395 less than at 12th September, 1938.

*Numbers unemployed normally in Casual Employment.—*At 11th September, 1939, there were on the registers in Great Britain 51,611 unemployed persons who normally seek a livelihood by means of jobs of short duration. This was 5 more than at 14th August, 1939, but 10,362 less than at 12th September, 1938.

*Applicants for Benefit or Allowances.—*The total of 1,330,928 persons on the registers at 11th September, 1939, included 1,144,404 applicants for benefit or allowances and 186,524 non-claimants. The latter figure showed an increase of 57,248 as compared with 14th August and this increase consisted mainly of women and girls registering as applicants for work.

*Percentages Unemployed.—*Among insured persons, aged 16–64, the percentage unemployed in Great Britain and Northern Ireland at 11th September, 1939, was 9.0 as compared with 8.6 at 14th August, 1939, and 12.4 at 12th September, 1938. For persons insured under the general scheme the corresponding percentages were 9.2 at 11th September, 1939, 8.8 at 14th August, 1939, and 12.8 at 12th September, 1938. For persons within the agricultural scheme the percentages were 3.4, 3.8 and 4.1 respectively.

* The information required for compiling monthly estimates of the numbers of insured persons in employment is no longer available and this series of figures is therefore discontinued for the present.

*Industries in which the Principal Variations occurred.—*There were decreases in the numbers unemployed in coal mining, building and public works contracting, engineering, ship building and repairing, the iron and steel industry, the pottery industry, boot and shoe manufacture and local government service. On the other hand, the numbers unemployed increased in hotel and boarding house service, entertainments and sport, the distributive trades, the fishing, clothing, furniture and printing industries, motor vehicle manufacture and the leather, cotton weaving, carpet and certain food manufacturing industries.

WAGES.

In the industries for which statistics are regularly compiled by the Department, the changes in rates of wages reported to have come into operation in September are estimated to have resulted in an increase of about £128,600 in the weekly full-time wages of 443,000 workpeople, and in a decrease of £9,700 in those of 178,000 workpeople.

The principal groups of workpeople whose wages were increased were shipbuilders and ship repairers, the crews of merchant vessels and steam trawlers, who were granted a war risk payment, and coal miners in Leicestershire, Somerset, Warwickshire, Cannock Chase and the Forest of Dean. The decreases mainly affected coal miners in Nottinghamshire and North Derbyshire.

The changes so far reported in the nine completed months in 1939 are estimated to have resulted in a net increase of about £235,750 a week in the full-time wages of 1,650,000 workpeople, and in a net decrease of £41,200 in those of 395,000 workpeople.

COST OF LIVING.

At 30th September the average level of retail prices of the commodities taken into account in the statistics compiled by the Ministry of Labour (including food, rent, clothing, fuel and light, and miscellaneous items) was approximately 65 per cent. above the level of July, 1914, as compared with 55 per cent. at 1st September, 1939, and 55 per cent. at 1st October, 1938.

The rise in the index figure during September was mainly due to increases in the prices of some of the principal articles of food, and to increases in the prices of clothing. For food only, the average increase as compared with July, 1914, rose from 38 per cent. at 1st September to 50 per cent. at 30th September.

Further particulars are given on page 375 of this GAZETTE.

TRADE DISPUTES.

The number of trade disputes involving stoppages of work reported to the Department as beginning in September was 72. In addition, 8 disputes which began before September were still in progress at the beginning of that month. The approximate number of workpeople involved in these 80 disputes, including workpeople thrown out of work at the establishments where the disputes occurred, was 24,000, and the aggregate duration of the disputes in September was about 73,000 working days.

CONTROL OF EMPLOYMENT ACT, 1939.

THE above Act* received the Royal Assent on 21st September, 1939. It is designed to secure:

(1) That the Minister of Labour and National Service shall have the fullest information as to the movements of certain types of labour whose services are essential in war time industries, but whose numbers may be scarce in relation to the demand for them; and

(2) That, when it is urgently necessary, the Minister shall be able to exercise some influence on movements so that labour, particularly skilled labour, is, so far as possible, used to the best National advantage.

The main provision of the Act is that the Minister may make an Order under which it will be an offence for any employer of a specified class either to advertise for, or to engage or re-engage any employee of a class specified without the Minister's permission. The Act in itself does not affect the position of any employer or worker; it comes into operation only when specified employers and employees are covered by an Order made under the Act. No such Order has yet been made.

The Act lays down the manner in which Orders are to be made, and the limitations within which the powers given are to be exercised. There have been close consultations with representatives of both employers and workers regarding the principles of the Act; and the Act itself provides for continued co-operation with Industry if and when Orders are made. Before any Order is made, the Minister must refer it to a Committee representing the workers and employers affected. The report of this Committee will be laid before Parliament with the Order. The views of interested parties will thus be fully ventilated.

If the Minister refuses consent to the engagement of a worker, he must notify to the worker an opportunity of some suitable alternative employment. If the worker does not consider the alternative suitable, he may appeal to a Court of Referees and, if his appeal is upheld, not only is the Minister's refusal of his original application set aside but the worker may be awarded a certain measure of compensation, to be determined by Regulations made under the Act, for loss suffered by reason of the refusal.

The Act also provides that, in certain circumstances, where engagements or re-engagements of workpeople are effected through approved arrangements between an employer, or organisations of employers, and Trade Unions, the Minister's consent to engagement or re-engagement will not be required. This will make for smooth working without interfering with the general purpose of the Act as the arrangements must conform to any directions given by the Minister.

TRANSFER OF DOCK LABOUR IN WAR-TIME.

AN agreement has been concluded between the Minister of Labour and National Service (on behalf of H.M. Government), the National Council of Port Labour Employers, and the Transport and General Workers' Union (on its own behalf and on behalf of the Unions associated with it, namely, the National Union of General and Municipal Workers and the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers), which has as its object provision for the temporary transfer, on a voluntary basis, of dock labour in war-time with a view to supplementing labour at ports where the supply of local registered dock workers is inadequate for the purpose of dealing with the additional traffic caused by the diversion of shipping.

The necessary arrangements for transferring men from port to port will normally be in the hands of the Local Port Labour Joint Committees in consultation with the Ministry of Labour and National Service, and the machinery of the Employment Exchanges is being placed at the disposal of the industry in order to facilitate the transfer of the men. For the purpose of the scheme the Transport and General Workers' Union will prepare a list at the Union's offices in the ports of those men who are willing to volunteer for transfer temporarily from their home ports when their services are required elsewhere. Men will not be transferred from a distance (i.e. from ports not within daily travelling distance) unless there is a reasonable prospect of their being required for at least six days.

The Government are assisting the scheme by providing each man so transferred with free travelling facilities to destination and back, together with an allowance of 6s. 6d. for the days on which the man travels, and by guaranteeing the minimum payment of 10s. a day (taking account of earnings) for a minimum period of six days. Each man required to remain in the port for longer than six days will continue to be guaranteed a minimum payment of 10s. (taking account of earnings) for each succeeding day until sent home, with the exception of Sundays when the guarantee will not apply unless the man is required to be in attendance. The employers on their part undertake to pay to each man transferred under the scheme a subsistence allowance of 5s. a day or the equivalent while he is at the port to which he has been transferred.

In the case of men transferred from ports within daily travelling distance free travelling facilities will be provided by the Government.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE AND ASSISTANCE.

EMERGENCY REGULATIONS.

IN the issue of this GAZETTE for September, 1939 (page 334) a summary was given of the Unemployment Insurance (Emergency Powers) Act, 1939, and the Unemployment Assistance (Emergency Powers) Act, 1939, under which the Minister of Labour was given power to make regulations for the purpose of adapting the schemes of unemployment insurance and unemployment assistance to war conditions. Regulations under both Acts have now been made, and are summarised below. They came into operation on 6th September, 1939.

*Unemployment Insurance (Emergency Powers) Regulations, 1939.**—Under these regulations certain provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Acts are suspended and others are amended. The provisions suspended are those relating to the following matters: the issue of new certificates of exception or exemption from unemployment insurance, the return of contributions erroneously paid, the crediting of contributions to persons continuing to receive whole-time education after reaching the school-leaving age, the obligation imposed upon education authorities to provide courses of instruction, the provisions regarding yearly and half-yearly hirings in relation to contributions under the agricultural scheme, and certain parts of the procedure prescribed by the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1935, in connection with the making of orders and regulations. Amendments are made in the provisions regarding the period for which benefit may be drawn, benefit in respect of dependent children, and the powers of insurance officers. Subject to the fulfilment of the statutory conditions and the absence of disqualification, insured contributors aged sixteen and over are now entitled to receive in a benefit year benefit for periods not exceeding in the aggregate 180 days in the case of the general scheme and 90 days in the case of the agricultural scheme. The requirement in the case of agricultural benefit that a claimant must have ten agricultural contributions standing to his credit before he can begin a benefit year is suspended. A person for whom a benefit year was already current may receive benefit in that benefit year for the number of days for which a certificate had been given under the old conditions, even though it may exceed the new maximum provided by the regulations. If, however, in a benefit year already current the period of benefit certified was less than 180 days (or 90 days in the case of an agricultural claimant) and has been exhausted, no further benefit can be paid in that benefit year.

As regards dependent children, it will not be necessary, as hitherto, for a claimant whose children live with him to prove in the ordinary way that he is mainly maintaining them.

The powers of insurance officers are extended to include the right to disallow any claim for benefit and to decide other questions which previously had to be referred to Courts of Referees.

The regulations provide for the relaxation of benefit conditions in favour of persons providing accommodation or rendering services to people removed from their homes under approved evacuation schemes. Such services are not to be regarded as rendering a claimant "not available for work" or "not unemployed," nor is the occupation to be regarded as an occupation ordinarily carried on for profit in connection with the determination of a claim for dependants' benefit.

Provision is also made in the regulations for certain other minor matters, mainly to provide for adjustments, where necessary, as between the unemployment insurance scheme, on the one hand, and the special schemes for the banking and insurance industries and the unemployment assistance scheme, respectively, on the other.

Unemployment Assistance (Prevention and Relief of Distress) Regulations, 1939.†—These regulations extend the class of persons to whom allowances may be paid under the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1934, to include, with certain minor exceptions, any person aged 16 years or over (although the qualifications set out in Section 36 (1) of the Act are not fulfilled in his case) who is in distress by reason of the fact that, owing to the action or threatened action of the enemy or to some other circumstance directly caused by the war, he has been moved from home under an official evacuation scheme, or he, or some person on whom he is normally dependent for support, has lost his employment or is unable to follow his normal occupation or has been otherwise deprived entirely or to a substantial extent of his normal means of livelihood. If an application for an allowance is made, under these provisions, by a woman who is temporarily separated from her husband, who, nevertheless, is not precluded from supporting her by circumstances caused by the war, she may, for the purpose of assessing her needs, be treated as if she continued to be a member of his household.

Unemployment Assistance (Issue of Allowances and Appeal Tribunals) Regulations, 1939.‡—Under these regulations, arrangements may be made between the Unemployment Assistance Board and a Local Authority for the issue of allowances by officers of the Local Authority.

The regulations also provide that the Chairman of an Appeal Tribunal may deal by himself with all appeals by applicants for allowances, including appeals as regards the amount of allowances.

SERVICE IN THE ARMED FORCES.

MEN BETWEEN THE AGES OF 20 AND 22.

ON 1st October, 1939, a Proclamation was made by His Majesty the King, under the provisions of the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, 1939, directing that, with certain exceptions (referred to below) all male British subjects who were within Great Britain on the 1st October and who at that date had attained the age of 20 but had not attained the age of 22 are liable to be called up for service in the armed forces of the Crown. British subjects who were outside Great Britain on 1st October, 1939, and who at that date had attained the age of 20 but had not attained the age of 22 are liable to be called up for service as soon as they return to Great Britain.

All men who are liable to be called up for service by virtue of the Proclamation are required, with certain exceptions (see below) to apply to be registered under the Act at a Local Office of the Ministry of Labour and National Service on Saturday, 21st October.

British subjects who were outside Great Britain on 1st October, 1939, and who at that date had attained the age of 20 but had not attained the age of 22 must apply for registration within seven days of their return to Great Britain at a Local Office of the Ministry of Labour and National Service.

Men who are already registered in the Military Training Register under the Military Training Act are not required to apply to be registered under the National Service (Armed Forces) Act. Their liability to be called up for military training is, however, superseded by a liability to be called up for service in the armed forces of the Crown.

Men registered as conscientious objectors under the Military Training Act who have already applied to, or whose cases have already been dealt with by, a local tribunal under that Act are not required to make fresh applications under the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, and any order of a tribunal made in the case of a conscientious objector under the Military Training Act has effect as if it had been made under the corresponding provisions of the National Service (Armed Forces) Act.

A man is not liable to be called up for service or to register under the Act notwithstanding the fact that he may have attained the age of 20 but had not attained the age of 22 on 1st October if he is:—

(a) a person not ordinarily resident in Great Britain who is under the provisions of any Act in force in any part of His Majesty's dominions outside Great Britain, a national or a citizen of that part within the meaning of that Act, or is a person born or domiciled in any such part of His Majesty's dominions or in a British protectorate, a mandated territory or any other country or territory being a country or territory under His Majesty's protection or suzerainty;

(b) a person employed in the service of the Government of a part of His Majesty's dominions outside Great Britain or in the service of the Government of a British protectorate, mandated territory or some other country or territory which is under His Majesty's protection or suzerainty, provided that his presence in Great Britain is due entirely to his employment in that service;

(c) a member of any of the armed forces of the Crown;

(e) a man in holy orders or a regular minister of any religious denomination;

(f) the subject of an Order or Inquisition under the Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890 to 1930, or is being detained in pursuance of Section 25 of the Lunacy Act 1890, or as a criminal lunatic or in pursuance of an Order made under the Criminal Lunatics Act, 1884, or is undergoing treatment as a temporary patient under Section 5 of the Mental Treatment Act, 1930, or is a person placed in an institution or a certified house or under guardianship under Section 3 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, or is the subject of an Order under Section 6, 8 or 9 of that Act or is under supervision provided under paragraph (b) of Section 30 of that Act or is an inmate of a home approved under Section 50 of that Act, or the subject of a notification under subsection (2) of Section 51 of that Act;

(g) the subject of an Order or Warrant for his detention or custody under the Lunacy (Scotland) Acts, 1857 to 1919, or is being entertained and kept in an asylum in pursuance of Section 15 of the Lunacy (Scotland) Act, 1866, or is a person for whose safe custody during His Majesty's pleasure His Majesty is authorised to give order, or is a prisoner whom the Secretary of State or the Prisons Department for Scotland has, in pursuance of any Act, directed to be removed to a criminal lunatic asylum or to the criminal lunatic department of Perth prison or to an asylum, or is a person placed in an institution or a certified house or under guardianship under Section 4 of the Mental Deficiency and Lunacy (Scotland) Act, 1913, or is the subject of an Order under Section 7, 9 or 10 of that Act;

(h) certified by a local authority as defined by the Blind Persons Acts, 1920 and 1938, to be registered as a blind person under arrangements made by the authority under those Acts.

The arrangements for the registration of men on 21st October will be on similar lines to those of 3rd June last, when the registration of militiamen took place. Full information of these arrangements is being given by means of posters, notices in the Press and announcements by the B.B.C.

WAGES OF ROAD HAULAGE WORKERS.

UNDER the Road Haulage Wages Act, 1938,* a Central Wages Board was set up in February last, together with area boards for Scotland and for each of the other Traffic Areas formed under the Road and Rail Traffic Act, 1933. The Central Board has the duty (after consultation with the areas) of fixing minimum wages for road haulage workers which will, subject to confirmation by the Minister of Labour and National Service, have statutory force.

The Central Wages Board has now issued its proposals concerning the remuneration of road haulage workers employed in connection with goods vehicles authorised under A and B carriers' licences granted under the Road and Rail Traffic Act, 1933.

These proposals have been framed after consultation with the area boards, and copies have been sent to all holders of A or B carriers' licences who are employers of road haulage workers. The proposals are required to be posted up for the information of all concerned, and any employer who has not received a copy should apply immediately to the Secretary, The Road Haulage Central Wages Board, Metropole Buildings, Northumberland Avenue, W.C.2. The period allowed for objection is 21 days from 6th October.

The broad effect of the proposals, if they are confirmed, will be to give statutory effect for an initial period up to 5th May, 1940, to the rates agreed between the organisations of employers and workers represented upon the National Joint Conciliation Board for the Road Transport Industry (Goods), subject, however, to some adjustments in the grading of the rates applicable within certain of the Traffic Areas. The proposals also provide for holidays with pay.

Proposals for Scotland for the interim period are set out in a separate part of the Notice. The proposed rates for this period correspond roughly with grade 2 rates for England and Wales and apply to the whole country without distinction of grading. After 5th May, 1940, however, Scotland will be included in the general scheme with the grading as provided in the Notice.

After the initial period which will end on 5th May, 1940, whilst no changes are in general contemplated in wage levels, changes are proposed as regards overtime and certain other of the surrounding conditions, e.g. subsistence allowances and payment for night work.

NATIONAL YOUTH COMMITTEE.

THE Government has announced that on account of the suspension of the National Fitness Council, the Board of Education has made itself more directly responsible for the work of preserving and extending facilities for the proper development of the youth of today which was formerly done by the National Fitness Council. A special branch of the Board is being set up which will be responsible for any grants which may be made available.

The President of the Board of Education and the Secretary of State for Scotland have appointed a National Youth Committee which will advise them on all questions relating to youth welfare. The Committee will be under the Chairmanship of Mr. Kenneth Lindsay, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Education. Mr. H. E. Melvin of the Board of Education and Mr. J. E. Stark of the Scottish Office will act as Secretaries of the Committee.

RUBBER RECLAMATION TRADE BOARD.

ON 21st September, 1938, the Minister of Labour made a Special Order applying the Trade Boards Acts, 1909 and 1918, to the Rubber Manufacturing Trade (see page 410 of the issue of this GAZETTE for October, 1938).

In the course of the enquiries which preceded the application of the Trade Boards Acts to the trade it was found that, although rubber reclamation was undertaken to some extent by rubber manufacturing firms proper, the bulk of the business in this part of the trade was in the hands of a small group of specialist firms, and the Minister, after consultation with the interested parties, decided that in all the circumstances wages could best be regulated by a separate Trade Board.

Accordingly, the Minister, by Regulations dated 15th September, 1939, established a Trade Board for the rubber reclamation branch of the trade, under the title of The Rubber Reclamation Trade Board (Great Britain). The work covered by the Board is set out in a Schedule to the Regulations.†

UNEMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE: WINTER ALLOWANCES.

IN reply to a Question in the House of Commons on 5th October, the Minister of Labour stated that under the Unemployment Assistance (Winter Adjustments) Regulations, 1938, temporary additions to allowances in appropriate cases will begin to be made in respect of payweeks which end during the calendar week commencing 30th October, 1939. The administration will proceed on the same general lines as were followed in making the special adjustments last winter, and the necessary review of cases on this basis is proceeding.

MAXIMUM RETAIL PRICES OF FOOD.

RETAIL prices of a number of commodities have been limited by Orders issued during September and the early part of October by the Ministry of Food* under the Defence Regulations, 1939.

The Sugar (Provisional Prices) Order, dated 5th September, fixed maximum retail prices as follows: granulated in bulk 3d. per lb., granulated in cartons 3½d., afternoon tea cubes 4d., other lump 3½d., castor and yellow crystals 4d. The Sugar (Maximum Prices) Order, dated 9th September, substituted the following maxima; granulated 3½d. per lb., cubes (lump) and castor 4d., pieces and soft brown sugar 3d. A further Order, the Sugar (Maximum Prices) (No. 2) Order, dated 23rd September, fixed the maximum price† of granulated at 3½d. per lb., cubes and castor 4d., and other kinds variously 3½d. to 4½d. The Sugar (Maximum Prices) (No. 3) Order, dated 27th September, raised these maxima by 1d. in consequence of the Budget.

The Butter (Provisional Maximum Prices) Order, dated 13th September, fixed maximum retail prices at 1s. 7d. and 1s. 5d. per lb. according to the variety of butter. The Butter (Maximum Prices) Order, dated 23rd September, fixed a single maximum retail price for butter, irrespective of variety, viz., 1s. 7d. per lb.

The Eggs (Maximum Prices) Order, dated 13th September, fixed maximum retail prices for eggs varying from 1s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. per dozen, according to category (e.g., country in which produced) and weight. The maximum of 2s. 6d. applies to eggs, of a minimum weight of 15 lbs. per 120 eggs, produced in Great Britain and Northern Ireland. The Eggs (Maximum Prices) (No. 2) Order, dated 22nd September, substituted 1s. 6d. for 1s. 3d. for certain classes of eggs, others remaining at 1s. 3d.

The Potatoes (Provisional Prices) Order, dated 9th September, fixed maximum retail prices as follows: in England and Wales and the counties of Dumfries and Kirkcudbright, 1d. per lb., 7 lbs. for 6d., 14 lbs. for 11½d.; in the rest of Scotland 3½ lbs. for 3d., 7 lbs. for 5½d., 14 lbs. for 10d.‡ These prices were revised by the Potatoes (Provisional Prices) (No. 2) Order, dated 15th September, which fixed maximum retail prices for potatoes, under two grades (classified by variety) in each of six "districts." The maximum prices thus fixed ranged from 1½d. per lb. for Grade A potatoes in the South of England, the Midlands and some other parts of England, and in Wales (except Merioneth) to 5½d. per 7 lbs. and 11d. per 14 lbs.‡ for Grade B potatoes in the Northern half of Scotland.

The Canned Salmon (Provisional Maximum Prices) Order, dated 6th September, fixed maximum prices for canned salmon, varying according to description.

The Condensed Milk (Provisional Prices) Order, dated 18th September, fixed maximum prices for full cream sweetened, full cream unsweetened, and machine skimmed condensed milk. These maxima were raised by the Condensed Milk (Provisional Prices) (No. 2) Order, dated 3rd October.

Dried Fruits were originally subject to the Dried Fruits (Provisional Prices) Order, dated 7th September, which provided that prices should not exceed the "current prices" during a specified period preceding the Order. Subsequently the Dried Fruits (Maximum Prices) Order, dated 19th September, fixed maximum retail prices for dried fruits, i.e., currants, dates, dried apples, dried apricots, dried nectarines, dried peaches, dried pears, dried plums or prunes, fruit salad, raisins and sultanas.

The Imported Lard (Control) Order, dated 29th September, fixed the maximum retail price of imported refined animal lard in Great Britain at 6d. per lb.

Tea, meat, oilseeds, oils and fats, margarine and "cooking fats" are subject to Orders providing that prices shall not exceed the "current prices" (as defined in the Orders) during a specified period preceding the dates of the Orders.

RETAIL PRICES IN SEPTEMBER.

Statistics relating to the retail prices of food at 1st and 30th September, 1939, are given on page 375 of this issue.

REGULATION OF LABOUR IN FRANCE: RECENT CHANGES.

IN order to maintain an adequate supply of munitions and, at the same time, to ensure that industrial output is kept at the level necessary for satisfying the requirements of the civil population, increases in working hours and other important changes in the legislation governing working conditions in France have been introduced by a Decree-Law dated 1st September, 1939, and certain amending and subsidiary Decrees and Orders, the chief provisions of which are summarised below.

Increased Weekly Working Hours.—All industrial, commercial, handicraft and co-operative undertakings and public hospitals and institutions are authorised to increase working hours to 60 a week, to be distributed in such a manner that the daily working time does not exceed 11 hours. For the purpose of making up time lost on account of collective interruptions of work and in certain other circumstances, the Inspector of Labour may authorise the distribution of the working hours over a period other than a week, provided that the daily working time does not exceed 12 hours. On continuous processes, the weekly working time is limited to 56 hours on average over a period which, except as otherwise authorised by the Inspector of Labour, may not exceed 12 weeks. Where work on continuous processes is being carried out in the interests of national defence or for one of the public services, an extension of working time to 72 hours a week may be sanctioned. The application of the revised regulations may not result in the extension of the normal working hours of children and women beyond 10 a day or 60 a week, except with the authority of the Inspector of Labour. For specific localities or occupations, the limits of working hours set out in the present paragraph may be reduced by an Order to be issued by the Minister of Labour.

Extensions of Working Time.—In addition to the permanent extensions of working time authorised by previous legislation, temporary extensions, of unspecified amount, may now be sanctioned by the Inspector of Labour in the case of workers employed on preparatory or complementary work which must be carried on outside normal working hours and of workers whose employment is intermittent in character. Permanent extensions of this nature require the sanction of the Minister of Labour.

Overtime, etc.—Undertakings are to continue to enjoy the overtime facilities, during periods of pressure of work, granted under previous legislation. Where the work is of national importance, the duration of the overtime is to be fixed by agreement between the Inspector of Labour and the local representative of the Ministry concerned. The organisation of work on a system of relays or rotation is permissible under conditions of control which are to be prescribed by the Inspector of Labour; but the adoption of such a method of organisation may not, as a rule, reduce to less than 10 hours the period of rest between two days of work.

Adjustment of Wages and Contributions to National Solidarity Fund.—In order that production costs may not be unduly raised by the increase in working hours, it is provided that workers the duration of whose working week has been extended are to receive for 45 hours of such working week the remuneration which they formerly received for a week of 40 hours. The remuneration which would normally have been due for hours of work performed between 40 and 45 a week is to be retained by the employer and paid to the Treasury as a contribution to the National Solidarity Fund, which, by a Decree-Law dated 1st September, 1939, has been established in order to provide allowances for necessitous families of persons serving with the forces. For hours of work in excess of 45 a week, workers are to receive two-thirds of the normal hourly remuneration. The remaining third of the normal hourly remuneration is to be appropriated to the National Solidarity Fund. In addition, men between the ages of 18 and 49 who are not embodied in a military unit are required to make a contribution to the National Solidarity Fund, as from 1st October, 1939, of 15 per cent. of their earnings, unless they are in receipt of a military or civil war-disability pension. For all other workers, the special tax of 2 per cent. on wages, salaries and earnings instituted by the Decree-Law dated 12th November, 1938 (see this GAZETTE for December, 1938), is to be increased, as from 1st January, 1940, to 4 per cent.

Suspension of Conciliation and Arbitration Legislation.—The application of the existing legislation respecting conciliation and arbitration in labour disputes (see this GAZETTE for May and December, 1938) has been suspended, and the Minister of Labour has been empowered to institute a war-time system of conciliation and arbitration. The wage revision clauses of all collective agreements and labour contracts are also suspended.

Regulations applicable to Special Industries.—Special regulations have been issued regulating the working hours and wages of underground workers in mines. The normal working week of such workers has been extended from 38 hours 40 minutes to 52 hours 30 minutes, inclusive of rest periods of 25 minutes a day and of both winding times. The working week is to consist of six days of 8 hours 45 minutes each; but the weekly rest day need not be the same for all the workers employed in an undertaking. The working time may be further extended to 60 hours a week by an Order to be issued jointly by the Ministers of Public Works and Labour. Provision is made for temporary extensions of working hours in case of accidents, etc., and on preparatory and complementary work, and work in the interests of national defence and other specified circumstances.

Mine workers are required to make contributions to the National Solidarity Fund similar in character to those made by industrial and commercial workers generally.

Further special regulations applicable to railways and the mercantile marine are to be issued later.

Working Hours in Government Departments.—The duration and distribution of working time in the various Government Departments and State works and services are to be determined by Ministerial Decree, subject to a maximum of 60 working hours a week.

Weekly Rest.—The grant of a weekly rest may, so far as is necessary, be withheld in the case of workers employed in State undertakings, undertakings executing State contracts, and undertakings engaged on work for the national defence. In other industrial and commercial undertakings, the weekly rest may, for the time being, be granted in rotation. During the period of hostilities, the staffs of Government Departments may be allowed to take the Saturday half-holiday and Sunday rest in a similar manner.

* By the Board of Trade in the case of Orders dated prior to 8th September.

† Subject to a permitted addition of ¼d. or ½d. per lb. in specified remote areas.

‡ Maximum prices were also fixed for retail sales by the cwt.

EMPLOYMENT* AT 11th SEPTEMBER, 1939—GENERAL REVIEW.

THE outbreak of the war created new demands for labour, but at the same time caused some dislocation affecting the employment of workpeople in many directions. At 11th September, 1939, the total number of persons on the registers of Employment Exchanges in Great Britain showed an increase of 99,236 as compared with 14th August. The number of males fell by 75,745, but the number of females rose by 174,981.

The following Table gives an analysis of the numbers† of persons on the registers at 11th September, 1939, with comparative figures for 14th August, 1939, and 12th September, 1938 :—

An appreciable part of the increase in the number of females on the register was due to the registration of evacuated women and of others offering their services for work in connection with the war. The increase of 84,115 in the number wholly unemployed in Great Britain included 57,248 persons who were not applying for benefit or allowances, of whom 49,366 were women and girls. Two-thirds of this number had not previously been in insured employment.

Between 14th August and 11th September an increase in unemployment among women occurred in every Division, the increases being most marked in the London, North-Western and Scotland Divisions. In the case of men, there was a considerable increase in London, and minor increases in the South-East of England, but substantial decreases occurred elsewhere, particularly in the North Midlands, North-Eastern, North-Western, and Scotland Divisions.

These changes are reflected in the figures for particular industries. There were decreases in the numbers unemployed in coal mining, building and public works contracting, engineering, ship building and repairing, the iron and steel and pottery industries, boot and shoe manufacture and local government service. On the other hand the numbers unemployed increased in hotel and boarding house service, entertainments and sport, the distributive trades, the fishing, clothing, furniture and printing industries, motor vehicle manufacture, and the leather, cotton weaving, carpet and certain food manufacturing industries.

Among insured persons, aged 16-64, the percentage unemployed† in Great Britain and Northern Ireland at 11th September, 1939, was 9.0, as compared with 8.6 at 14th August, 1939, and 12.4 at 12th September, 1938. For persons insured under the general scheme the corresponding percentages were 9.2 at 11th September, 1939, 8.8 at 14th August, 1939, and 12.8 at 12th September, 1938. For persons within the agricultural scheme the percentages were 3.4, 3.8 and 4.1 respectively.

CHANGES IN THE PRINCIPAL INDUSTRIES.‡

Mining and Quarrying.—In the coal mining industry there was an improvement in employment, between 14th August and 11th September, in nearly every district. The percentage unemployed (including those temporarily stopped) among insured workpeople, aged 16-64, was 8.9 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 11.1 at 14th August, 1939, and 17.6 at 12th September, 1938.

In the iron mining industry also there was some improvement. The percentage unemployed (including those temporarily stopped) was 5.6 at 11th September, 1939, compared with 6.6 at 14th August, 1939, and with 29.2 at 12th September, 1938. In slate quarrying unemployment showed a marked increase, and there was also some increase in stone quarrying. In the other mining and quarrying industries there was little change on the whole.

Pig Iron, Iron and Steel and Tinplate.—There was a further improvement in the pig iron industry. The percentage rate of unemployment was 6.8 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 9.1 at 14th August, 1939, and 22.4 at 12th September, 1938.

Employment also improved in iron and steel manufacture; at 11th September the percentage unemployed among insured persons was 5.7, as compared with 9.0 at 14th August, 1939, and 27.4 at 12th September, 1938.

In the tinplate industry there was some increase in unemployment; the percentage rate of unemployment among insured persons was 8.6 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 5.8 at 14th August, 1939, and 38.1 at 12th September, 1938.

Engineering, Shipbuilding and Other Metal Industries.—In the engineering industry the numbers unemployed showed a further fall. The improvement in employment occurred chiefly in general, marine and constructional engineering, and was most marked in the North of England and in Scotland. On the other hand employment showed a decline in motor vehicle manufacture. The percentage unemployed among insured persons in the engineering industries as a whole (excluding motor vehicle, cycle and aircraft manufacture) was 3.8 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 4.6 at 14th August, 1939, and 8.0 at 12th September, 1938.

In the shipbuilding and ship-repairing industry there was a marked improvement in employment. The percentage unemployed among insured persons fell to 10.0 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 17.1 at 14th August, and 21.1 at 12th September, 1938.

Employment improved in most of the other metal industries.

Textile Industries.—In the cotton industry there was a slight decrease in the numbers unemployed at 11th September in the preparing and spinning departments, but an increase in the manufacturing department. The percentage unemployed among insured persons in the cotton industry as a whole was 13.1 at 11th September, 1939, as compared with 11.8 at 14th August, 1939, and with 31.7 at 12th September, 1938. In the preparing and spinning departments the corresponding percentages were 10.5, 11.1, and 27.8, and in the manufacturing department they were 15.7, 12.4 and 35.7.

In the wool textile industry there was a fall in the numbers unemployed, the percentage unemployed being 5.7 at 11th September, 1939, compared with 6.8 at 14th August, 1939, and 18.8 at 12th September, 1938. In the carpet industry the percentage unemployed rose from 8.8 at 14th August to 21.5 at 11th September; the corresponding figure for 12th September, 1938, was 11.8.

There was an increase in the numbers unemployed in the silk and artificial silk manufacturing industry, but a decrease in artificial silk yarn manufacture. In the linen and jute and hosiery trades there was little change. The numbers unemployed increased in the lace trade, but decreased in textile bleaching, printing, dyeing, etc.

Clothing Trades.—In the tailoring, dressmaking and millinery trades there was a marked decline in employment, particularly in the London area and the North of England. There was also a considerable decline in the hat and cap trade, while slight increases in unemployment were recorded in the other dress industries. In the clothing industries as a whole (exclusive of the boot and shoe industry) the percentage rate of unemployment among insured persons at 11th September was 17.7, as compared with 9.7 at 14th August and 13.1 at 12th September, 1938.

In the boot and shoe industry the numbers unemployed showed a decrease, particularly in the Midlands and South-Western districts, but the figures for 14th August were affected by local holidays. At 11th September, 1939, the percentage unemployed in Great Britain and Northern Ireland was 7.5, as compared with 13.0 at 14th August, 1939, and with 11.2 at 12th September, 1938.

Leather Trades.—In the tanning, currying and leather dressing sections of the leather trades a marked increase in the numbers unemployed occurred in London between 14th August and 11th September, but there was a slight decrease in certain areas in the North of England. In other sections of the industry there was little change on the whole. For Great Britain and Northern Ireland the percentage rate of unemployment in the leather trades as a whole rose from 6.6 at 14th August to 9.1 at 11th September, 1939; at 12th September, 1938, the corresponding figure was 10.0.

Building, Woodworking, etc.—In the building industry the numbers unemployed showed a further decrease between 14th August and 11th September, especially in the North-Western Division. There was a fall in unemployment among carpenters, but an increase occurred among painters and plasterers; among other classes of skilled workers there was little change. In the building industry as a whole the percentage unemployed was 9.5 at 11th September, 1939, compared with 10.4 at 14th August, 1939, and with 14.1 at 12th September, 1938.

In brick manufacture the numbers unemployed increased in the Midlands, but elsewhere there was little change as compared with 14th August. For the country as a whole the percentage unemployed rose from 6.9 at 14th August, 1939, to 7.9 at 11th September, 1939; the figure for 12th September, 1938, was 9.8.

There was a marked increase of unemployment in the furniture trade, but employment improved in the sawmilling and machined woodwork industry.

Paper Manufacture, Printing and Bookbinding.—There was little change in the paper-making industry, but in the printing, publishing and bookbinding industries there was a marked decline in employment, especially in London; much short-time working occurred in the printing industry. The percentage unemployed in the paper and paper-board industries was 3.2 at 11th September, 1939, compared with 4.0 at 14th August, 1939, and with 11.2 at 12th

* The information required for compiling monthly estimates of the numbers of insured persons in employment is no longer available and this series of figures is therefore discontinued for the present.

† The numbers and percentages unemployed have probably been affected to some extent by the withdrawal of men from the industrial field owing to the recent expansion of H.M. Forces, but the information necessary for making an estimate of this effect is not available.

‡ The percentages unemployed among insured workpeople at 11th September and 14th August, 1939, quoted in this issue have been computed on the basis of the numbers insured at July, 1938. Revised percentages for Great Britain and for Great Britain and Northern Ireland, based on the numbers insured at July, 1939, will be published in a later issue of this GAZETTE.

§ For reasons of economy, the articles relating to "Employment in some of the Principal Industries" hitherto published in the monthly issues of this GAZETTE, have been suspended.

|| Excluding the period April, 1926, to March, 1927, and agricultural workers, for whom no figures were available.

UNEMPLOYMENT AMONG INSURED PERSONS AT 11th SEPTEMBER, 1939.

INDUSTRIAL ANALYSIS.

THE statistics here presented show, industry by industry, the estimated number of persons, aged 16-64, insured against unemployment at July, 1938, and the total number and percentage of such persons unemployed on 11th September, 1939,* distinguishing those wholly unemployed (i.e., out of a situation) from those temporarily stopped (i.e., suspended from work on the understanding that they were shortly to return to their former employment).

The Unemployment Insurance Acts provide, subject to certain exceptions, for the compulsory insurance against unemployment of substantially all employed persons. The principal classes of excepted employments are indoor private domestic service, employment otherwise than by way of manual labour at a rate of remuneration exceeding in value £250 a year, employment as female professional nurse, and, subject to certain qualifications, employment in the teaching profession and in the police forces. Employment under public or local authorities, railways and public utility companies may, in certain circumstances, also be excepted. Persons aged 65 and over, and certain other classes, are excluded from insurance. The Unemployment Insurance Acts do not apply to persons serving in an established capacity in the permanent service of the Crown. Prior to September, 1934, juveniles under 16 years of age were also excepted, and they are excluded from the statistics in these Tables; particulars of the numbers of these juveniles recorded as unemployed at 11th September, 1939, are, however, given on pages 367 and 370. As from 4th April, 1938, certain classes of domestic employments were brought within the General and Agricultural Schemes of unemployment insurance. These new classes are included in the Tables below.

An unemployment book, on which is recorded the industry in which he is employed, is issued to every insured person, and this book must be lodged at an Employment Exchange whenever the insured person makes a claim for unemployment benefit or for an unemployment allowance, or registers as unemployed without claiming benefit or an allowance.

The files of "lodged" books at the Employment Exchanges thus furnish for each industrial group a record of the unemployment of insured persons. In arriving at this figure the books of those persons who are known to be working in an uninsured trade, or to be sick or deceased, or to have gone abroad, are excluded. Where information on these points is lacking, the books remain in the "lodged" files, and are included in the statistics of unemployment, for a period of two months from the date on which the insured person was last in touch with the Exchange.

The numbers unemployed given in the following Tables relate only to persons, aged 16-64, insured against unemployment. They include insured persons of those ages maintaining registration at Employment Exchanges, together with those whose unemployment books remain lodged in the "two months" file referred to above. The figures given on pages 363, 364 and 365 relating to persons registered at Employment Exchanges include uninsured as well as insured persons who are maintaining registration for employment, but not insured persons whose books are in the two months file. A Table showing the composition of the two series of figures is given on page 365.

The estimated numbers of insured persons in each industry are computed once a year, in November, on the basis of information obtained at the annual exchange of unemployment books. The figures relate to the beginning of July, and similar statistics are not available for other dates in the year. In considering the figures on pages 368 and 389 it should be borne in mind that the percentage rates of unemployment at August and September, 1939, and those for September, 1938, used for the purpose of comparison, have been calculated on the basis of the estimated numbers of insured persons at July, 1938.

Revised percentages for August and September, 1939, based on the numbers insured at the beginning of July, 1939, will be published in a later issue of this GAZETTE.

* The numbers and percentages unemployed have probably been affected to some extent by the withdrawal of men from the industrial fields owing to the recent expansion of H.M. Forces, but the information necessary for making an estimate of this effect is not available.

The figures above include those boys and girls whose unemployment books were in the "two-months' file" of lodged books, i.e. boys and girls who had registered as unemployed at some date within the previous two months and were not known to have found work, but were not maintaining registration as applicants for employment.

EMPLOYMENT OVERSEAS.

[N.B.—The following paragraphs include an abstract of such official and other information as is available with regard to the state of employment abroad, in order to indicate, as far as possible, the fluctuations in employment in each country from period to period. The bases of the statistics published in the various countries are, however, not the same as those of the statistics relating to this country; and therefore the figures quoted below cannot properly be used with those on pp. 363–364 to compare the actual level of employment in Great Britain and Northern Ireland with that in other countries.]

BELGIUM.*

There was a decline in unemployment during June. Returns received by the National Employment and Unemployment Office from approved unemployment insurance funds with a total membership of 1,013,389 showed that 14·2 per cent. of these were totally unemployed in June, 1939, as compared with 14·8 per cent. in May, 1939, and 12·3 per cent. in June, 1938. In addition, 14·5 per cent. were employed intermittently in June, 1939, as compared with 15·6 per cent. in May, 1939, and 16·8 per cent. in June, 1938. In June, 1939, 16·8 per cent. of the aggregate possible working days were lost through unemployment; in the preceding month the percentage was 17·9, and in June, 1938, 15·9.

NETHERLANDS.†

There was a further decline in unemployment during July. Figures compiled by the State Department of Unemployment Insurance and Employment Exchanges show that, of 511,637 members of subsidised unemployment funds making returns for the week ended 29th July, 1939, 16·9 per cent. were unemployed during the whole week and 2·4 per cent. for less than 6 days. In the corresponding week of the preceding month the percentages were 17·1 and 2·1, and in the last week of July, 1938, 21·4 and 3·1. At the end of July, 1939, 264,934 applicants for work were registered at public Employment Exchanges, of whom 192,344 were unemployed; at the end of the previous month the corresponding totals were 271,351 and 196,166, and at the end of July, 1938, 319,877 and 302,312.

SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES.

Unemployment increased in Denmark during September; it declined in both Norway and Sweden during July.

Sweden.†—Of a total of approximately 679,000 members covered by the returns of the reporting trade unions, 4·7§ per cent. were unemployed at the end of July, 1939, as compared with 5·6|| per cent. at the end of the previous month, and 7·2 per cent. at the end of July, 1938.

Denmark.¶—According to returns received by the Danish Statistical Department from approved unemployment funds with a total membership of 484,100, approximately 12·6* per cent. of this membership were unemployed at the end of September, 1939, as compared with 9·5 per cent. at the end of August, 1939, and 16·8 per cent. at the end of September, 1938.

Norway.**—Returns furnished by ten trade unions with a total membership of 92,905 show that 11·8 per cent. of this membership were unemployed at the end of July, 1939, as compared with 13·1 per cent. at the end of June, 1939, and 16·9 per cent. at the end of July, 1938.

ÉIRE.††

Unemployment showed a further increase during September. The number of persons on the live registers of the Employment Exchanges increased from 70,961 at 28th August to 77,888 at 25th September, 1939. The figures for both these dates are affected by the operation of two Orders†† issued under the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1933, the effect of which is to restrict the eligibility for unemployment assistance of certain classes of persons living in rural areas. At 26th September, 1938, when similar Orders were in force, the number of persons on the live register was 70,411.

UNITED STATES.§§

Employment in manufacturing industries declined slightly in July. According to returns received by the Bureau of Labour Statistics from employers, covering over one-half of the aggregate number of wage-earners in manufacturing industries, the number of workpeople employed at the middle of July, 1939, showed a decline of 0·1 per cent., as compared with the previous month. Aggregate weekly earnings in the establishments covered declined during the same period by 2·4 per cent. If the average monthly index of employment in manufacturing industries for the three years 1923–1925 be taken as 100, the corresponding index for July, 1939, was 90·5, as compared with 90·6|| for the previous month, and 81·9 for July, 1938.

At the end of July, 1939, 6,100,925 applicants for work were registered at the Public Employment Exchanges comprised in, or affiliated to, the United States Employment Service, a decline of 2·9 per cent., as compared with the previous month, and of 24·6 per cent., as compared with July, 1938. The comparability of these figures is affected by the incentive to register provided by the initiation of unemployment compensation payments in an increasing number of States. As from 1st July, however, benefits became payable in all States. Included among the registered applicants are a large number of persons provided with employment on public relief work schemes.

CHANGES IN RATES OF WAGES AND HOURS OF LABOUR IN SEPTEMBER.

Rates of Wages.

IN the industries covered by the Department's statistics* the changes in the rates of wages reported to have come into operation in September in Great Britain and Northern Ireland resulted in an increase estimated at about £128,600 in the weekly full-time wages of 443,000 workpeople and in a decrease of £9,700 in those of 178,000 workpeople.

The particulars are analysed by industry groups below :—

Industry Group.	Approximate Number of Workpeople affected by		Estimated Amount of Change in Weekly Wages
	Increases.	Decreases.	Increases.	Decreases.
Mining and Quarrying ...	135,900	178,000	£ 6,870	£ 9,695
Transport ...	115,000	—	80,000	—
Other ...	192,300	150	41,730	5
TOTAL ...	443,200	178,150	128,600	9,700

In the mining and quarrying group there were increases in the percentage additions to basis rates for coal miners in Leicestershire, Somerset, Warwickshire, Cannock Chase and the Forest of Dean, and decreases in Scotland, Nottinghamshire and North Derbyshire, the changes being due to fluctuations in the proceeds of the industry as shown by the district ascertainment. In the case of Scotland the decrease was offset by increases in the flat-rate additions, making the latter 1s. per shift for male workers 18 years and over and 6d. per shift for other male workers. There was also a decrease for cokemen and by-product workers in Durham.

In the transport industries the principal increase affected the crews of merchant vessels, for whom "war risk money" was granted, amounting to £3 a month or 14s. a week for ratings other than boys.

In the other industry groups the principal increase affected workers employed in the shipbuilding and ship-repairing industry in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, for whom there was an increase of 2s. per week in bonus for adult male timeworkers, of approximately 4 per cent. for pieceworkers, and of 6d. or 1s. per week for timeworkers under 21 years. Other workpeople whose wages were increased included flannel workers at Rochdale, heavy edge tool workers at Sheffield, and chain makers other than those whose wages are regulated by Orders under the Trade Boards Acts. There was also an increase for the crews of steam trawlers in the form of war risk money.

Of the estimated total increase of £128,600 per week, £830 was due to the operation of sliding scales based on the proceeds of the coal mining industry; £180 was due to the operation of sliding scales based on the cost of living; £40 was due to arrangements made by joint standing bodies; and the remaining £127,550 was the result of direct negotiations between employers and workpeople or their representatives.

Nearly the whole of the estimated total decrease of £9,700 per week was due to the operation of sliding scales based on selling prices or on the proceeds of the coal mining industry.

Hours of Labour.

In the industries covered by the Department's statistics* the changes reported during September affected about 5,000 workpeople whose normal hours of labour were reduced by 3 or 4 hours per week. These workpeople consisted of juvenile workers under 16 years of age in the electrical cable, flax, rope, twine and net industries. The changes reported in the nine completed months of 1939 are estimated to have affected about 372,000 workpeople, who have had their hours reduced, on average, by a little over 3½ hours per week.

* The particulars of numbers affected and amount of change in the weekly wages and hours of labour exclude changes affecting Government employees, agricultural labourers, shop assistants and clerks, for which classes the information available is not sufficient to form a basis for statistics. Where information is available, however, details of changes in the wages and hours of these classes are shown in the list of principal changes recorded. The estimates of the effects of the changes on weekly wages are based on normal conditions of employment and do not take into account the effect of short-time working, etc.

† In addition to the numbers quoted, wages stand at the same level as at the beginning of the year in the case of 143,000 workpeople whose wages have been increased and reduced by equal amounts during the year.

‡ Changes affecting workpeople employed in railway engineering workshops are included under "Engineering" and not under "Transport."

The subsistence wage payable at the majority of the collieries to adult able-bodied underground workers remained unaltered at 8s. 6d. per shift. ## POOR RELIEF: SECOND QUARTER, 1939.

A STATEMENT* issued by the Ministry of Health shows that the total number of persons† in receipt of poor relief in England and Wales on the last Saturday in June, 1939, was 1,031,421, as compared with 1,073,975 at the end of March, 1939, and with 1,040,352 at the end of June, 1938.

The total for the end of June, 1939, viz., 1,031,421, was composed of 144,711 recipients of institutional relief, and 886,710 recipients of domiciliary relief ("outdoor" relief, i.e., relief in their own homes).

With the exception of increases following the Easter and Whitsun holidays, there was a continuous decrease throughout the quarter in the number of persons in receipt of poor relief. The averages of the numbers in receipt of domiciliary relief on each Saturday in the months April, May and June, 1939, were 915,978, 900,741 and 890,589 respectively.

The total number of persons‡ receiving relief from Public Assistance Authorities in Scotland on 15th June, 1939, was 227,490, as compared with 235,737 on 15th May, 1939, 239,282 on 15th April, 1939, 242,745 on 15th March, 1939, and 226,714 on 15th June, 1938. ## TRADE DISPUTES IN SEPTEMBER.*

Number, Magnitude and Duration.—The number of disputes involving stoppages of work, reported to the Department as beginning in September in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, was 72, as compared with 85 in the previous month and 59 in September, 1938. In these 72 new disputes about 16,300 workpeople were directly involved, and 6,100 workpeople indirectly involved (i.e., thrown out of work at the establishments where the disputes occurred, though not themselves parties to the disputes). In addition, about 1,300 workpeople were involved, either directly or indirectly, in 8 disputes which began before September and were still in progress at the beginning of that month. The number of new and old disputes was thus 80, involving 23,700 workpeople, and resulting in a loss, during September, estimated at 73,000 working days.

In the following Table is given an analysis, by groups of industries, of all disputes in progress in September :—

Industry Group.	Number of Disputes in progress in Month.			Number of Workpeople involved in all Disputes in progress in Month.	Aggregate Duration in Working Days of all Disputes in progress in Month.
	Started before beginning of Month.	Started in Month.	Total.
Mining and Quarrying ...	2	32	34	19,600	51,000

Total, September, 1938...	14	59	73	26,500	90,000

Causes.—Of the 72 disputes beginning in September, 29, directly involving 4,500 workpeople, arose out of demands for advances in wages, 5, directly involving 1,700 workpeople, out of proposed wage reductions, and 16, directly involving 2,700 workpeople, on other wage questions; 10, directly involving 2,900 workpeople, on questions respecting the employment of particular classes or persons; 10, directly involving 4,400 workpeople, on other questions respecting working arrangements; and 2, directly involving 100 workpeople, on questions of trade union principle.

Results.—Final settlements of disputes which terminated during September have been effected in the case of 53 new disputes, directly involving 14,100 workpeople, and 4 old disputes, directly involving 900 workpeople. Of these new and old disputes, 13, directly involving 2,000 workpeople, were settled in favour of the workpeople; 35, directly involving 10,900 workpeople, were settled in favour of the employers; and 9, directly involving 2,100 workpeople, resulted in a compromise. In the case of 10 other disputes, directly involving 1,000 workpeople, work was resumed pending negotiations.

* Disputes involving less than 10 workpeople, and those which lasted less than one day, have, as usual, been omitted from the statistics, except when the aggregate duration (i.e., number of workpeople multiplied by number of working days, allowing for workpeople replaced, etc.) exceeded 100 days.

† In making up these totals the figures have been amended in accordance with the most recent information. Workpeople involved in more than one dispute are counted more than once in the totals; the amount of such duplication, however, is slight, except in coal mining, in which the net number of workpeople involved was approximately 99,000 in 1939, and 101,000 in 1938. For all industries combined the net totals were approximately 201,000 in 1939, and 170,000 in 1938.

‡ The occupations printed in italics are those of workpeople indirectly involved, i.e., thrown out of work at the establishments where the disputes occurred but not themselves parties to the disputes.

§ Work was resumed on 19th September but ceased again on 21st September.

CHANGES IN COST OF LIVING: STATISTICS FOR 30th SEPTEMBER.

Summary: Average Increases since July, 1914.

FOOD.

DURING September there were marked increases in the retail prices of sugar, fish, eggs, butter and bacon, and some increases in the prices of a number of other foods, including beef, mutton, flour, bread and cheese. As a result of these increases, the average level of retail prices of the articles of food of which account is taken in the statistics regularly compiled by the Department was approximately 9 per cent. higher at 30th September than at the beginning of the month. The average increase over the level of July, 1914, was 50 per cent. at 30th September, 1939, as compared with 38 per cent. at 1st September, 1939, and 39 per cent. at 1st October, 1938.

The following Table gives, for July, 1914, and for 1st and 30th September, 1939, a comparison of the average retail prices, in the United Kingdom generally, shown by the returns collected by the Department for the purpose of these statistics:—

Of the average rise of 1½d. per lb. in the price of sugar, 1d. per lb. was due to the increase in the duty provided for by the recent Budget. The rise in the prices of eggs was largely seasonal.

† The description of cheese for which prices are quoted is in most cases Canadian or New Zealand, but in some districts the returns quote the prices of another kind locally representative.

‡ Taking July, 1914, as = 100, the figure for 1st Sept., 1939, is 138 and that for 30th Sept., is 150, an increase of 12 on 138, or 9 per cent.

ITEMS OTHER THAN FOOD.

For rents of working-class dwellings which are controlled by the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts (see page 334 of last month's issue of this GAZETTE) the maximum permissible rent is the rent at 2nd September, 1939, subject to increases for subsequent structural alterations and improvements, and, where the landlord pays the rates, to increases equivalent to any subsequent increases in rates. There was no change, during September, in the level of working-class rents (including rates) which remained at approximately 62 per cent. on average, above the level of July, 1914.

As regards clothing, information collected from representative retailers in a number of the principal towns indicates that the prices of clothing of the kinds generally bought by working-class families rose, on average, by about 7 per cent. during September. For men's suits and overcoats the average increase was about 4 per cent.; for woollen materials, underclothing and hosiery it was about 9 per cent.; for cotton materials, underclothing and hosiery about 10 per cent.; and for boots and shoes about 5 per cent. Owing to the wide range of quotations, to changes in qualities, and to the variations in the extent to which different articles have been affected by price changes, it is not possible to make an exact calculation of the average change in prices over a long period, but it is estimated that the average rise over the level of July, 1914, was about 120 to 125 per cent. at 30th September, as compared with 105 to 110 per cent. at 1st September.

In the fuel and light group, the retail prices of coal were increased in some districts during September, but the changes were generally slight, and the average level of prices at 30th September was not appreciably different from that at 1st September, being approximately 95 per cent. higher, at both dates, than in July, 1914. Prices of gas remained unchanged, at about 55 per cent. above the level of July, 1914. Candles were dearer at the end of the month than at the beginning, by 20 to 25 per cent., and in many cases matches were slightly dearer. Lamp oil showed very little change in price during the month. For the fuel and light group as a whole, the average level of prices at 30th September was about 1 per cent. higher than at 1st September and about 85 per cent. higher than at July, 1914.

As regards other items included in these statistics, there were increases in the prices of tobacco and cigarettes (1½d. per oz. of tobacco and ½d. for 10 cigarettes), following the increase in duty provided for in the Budget. There were also increases in the prices of domestic ironmongery, brushware and pottery, which averaged about 6 per cent. dearer at the end of September than at the beginning of the month. The prices of soap, soda and newspapers remained generally unchanged. The combined effect of all the changes in prices in this "miscellaneous" group of items was to raise the average for the group by about 3 per cent., i.e. from about 80 to about 85 per cent. above the level of July, 1914.

ALL ITEMS.

If the average increases in the cost of all the foregoing items are combined in accordance with their relative importance in working class family expenditure in 1914, the resultant general average increase for 30th September, 1939, is approximately 65 per cent. over the level of July, 1914, as compared with 55 per cent. at 1st September, 1939, and 55 per cent. at 1st October, 1938.

The result of this calculation (in which the same quantities and, as far as possible, the same qualities of each item are taken at each date) is to show the average increase in the cost of maintaining unchanged the standard of living prevailing in working-class families prior to August, 1914, no allowance being made for the effect of any changes in the standard of living that may have occurred since that date.

RETAIL PRICES OVERSEAS.

N.B.—While the percentages given in the following Summary Tables are derived from the most authoritative sources of statistical information, certain differences in the nature and scope of the data used, in the methods of combining such data and in the periods for which the rise is measured, suggest the need for caution in drawing conclusions from a comparison between the figures for any two countries or cities. In every case, the percentage calculation is based on the cost of a fixed list of commodities taken in identical quantities.

UNEMPLOYMENT ALLOWANCES.

As from 1st April, 1937, the cost of unemployment allowances in Great Britain is met from the Unemployment Assistance Fund, which is reimbursed by the Exchequer.

As from 6th September, 1939, the class of persons to whom allowances may be paid under the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1934, has been extended by the provisions of the Unemployment Assistance (Prevention and Relief of Distress) Regulations, 1939 (see article on page 360 of this GAZETTE).

For the period of five weeks ended 30th September, 1939, expenditure on unemployment allowances (excluding the cost of administration) amounted to approximately £2,503,000 as compared with £2,013,000 during the four weeks ended 26th August, 1939, and £2,595,000 during the four weeks ended 24th September, 1938.

The figure for the five weeks ended 30th September, 1939, is not comparable with those for earlier periods since it includes the amounts paid under the provisions of the Unemployment Assistance (Prevention and Relief of Distress) Regulations, and separate figures of the amounts so paid are not available. It is clear, however, that during September there was a substantial decline in the number of persons receiving allowances under the original scheme.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

INSURANCE INDUSTRY SPECIAL SCHEME
(VARIATION) ORDER, 1939.

THE general purpose of this Order, which was made by the Minister of Labour and National Service on 19th September, is to bring the Insurance Industry Special Scheme into line with the General Scheme of Unemployment Insurance, as amended by the Emergency Powers Regulations.

UNEMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE.

Unemployment Insurance (Emergency Powers) Regulations, 1939.

Unemployment Assistance (Prevention and Relief of Distress) Regulations, 1939.

Unemployment Assistance (Issue of Allowances and Appeal Tribunals) Regulations, 1939.

The above Regulations, made by the Minister of Labour and National Service on 6th September, 1939, are summarised on page 360 of this issue.

* A detailed account of the Fund is presented to Parliament annually (see H.C. 24 of 1939 for the period ended 31st March, 1938).

† Statutory provision was made for the repayment (including interest) of the debt outstanding on 1st July, 1934 (amounting to £105,780,000) by half-yearly payments of £2,500,000 commencing on 30th September, 1934. Under the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1938, an additional sum of £20,000,000 was repaid on 31st March, 1938, and thereafter the half-yearly payment was reduced to £2,006,259. A further sum of £3,000,000 was repaid on 31st March, 1939, and the half-yearly payment was reduced to £1,931,767.

LEGAL CASES AFFECTING LABOUR.

Arrears amounting to £123 5s. 4d. were ordered to be paid.—Rex v. Henry Horace Dilwyn Richards. Port Talbot Borough Police Court. 14th September, 1939.

INDUSTRIAL COURTS ACT, 1919,
AND CONCILIATION ACT, 1896.

Recent Proceedings.

INDUSTRIAL COURT DECISIONS.

EDGE TOOL MAKERS, SHEFFIELD.—The Associated Blacksmiths' Forge and Smithy Workers' Society claimed an increase of 2s. a week, for time or piece work, on behalf of its male members aged 21 years and over, employed by Messrs. Hardypick Limited, Messrs. E. & W. Lucas Limited, Messrs. C. T. Skelton and Company Limited and Messrs. Spear and Jackson Limited. The increase was referable to the war bonus paid to the workpeople concerned. The Union contended that during the war national advances in the engineering industry had been given effect to in the heavy edge tool trade. Since the war and up to 1935, reductions in the engineering trade had been applied to the heavy edge tool trade, and since 1935, advances in the engineering trade had also been applied. The advance now asked took effect in the engineering industry as from 5th June, 1939. The Employers contended that increases in the engineering industry had not been automatically applied in the heavy edge tool industry, that the concession of the present claim would prejudice them, as their competitors in Sheffield, or in the Birmingham, Wolverhampton, etc. areas were not covered by the claim; and also that any increase in wages cost would affect their export trade. The Court granted the claim.—Award No. 1736; dated 1st September, 1939.

MAINTENANCE MEN, SCOTTISH IRON AND STEEL TRADE.—The Scottish Iron and Steel Trades Joint Committee claimed an increase of 1d. an hour to craftsmen working at a height of 30 feet or over above ground at the works of the members of No. 1 Division, The Iron and Steel Trades Employers' Association. Evidence was submitted by the parties as to the remuneration of maintenance men in the steel, engineering and other industries. Attention was also directed to agreements in operation in the engineering trade in the West of Scotland, providing for an allowance of 1d. an hour to men working on certain repair work at over 30 feet above ground, and to the minimum rates payable to millwrights and skilled fitters engaged on maintenance work, which were 1d. an hour above the district basis time rate for skilled fitters. The Court decided that the work in question forms part of the ordinary and customary maintenance duties of the men concerned, and provided their rates are not less than 1d. an hour above the recognised district basis time rate for new work in their particular occupation, no extra rate shall be payable unless any particular job is of an exceptionally dangerous character.—Award No. 1737; dated 28th September, 1939.

ROCHDALE AND DISTRICT FLANNEL MANUFACTURE.—The Transport and General Workers' Union claimed an advance of 7½ per cent. on the present rates of the workpeople covered by an agreement between the Rochdale and District Flannel Manufacturers' Association and the Union, made on 5th March, 1937. The Union contended that trade was more flourishing than it had been for some time, that the wages of the workpeople concerned compared unfavourably with those of other classes of workpeople in the Rochdale district, and that there had been a steep increase in the cost of certain commodities purchased by working class families. The Rochdale and District Flannel Manufacturers' Association contended that they should not be asked to pay higher wages than their competitors, that their wages should not be judged in relation to such trades as engineering and asbestos manufacture but to the woollen trade in Yorkshire, and that the more flourishing state of the trade was due to the state of emergency. It was also stated by the Association that the contention of the Union as regards the increase in the cost of living was not put before them when the application was made. The Court decided that the rates of wages at present paid shall be augmented by such advances as shall bring them up to the rates provided for in an agreement between the parties dated 13th August, 1931.—Award No. 1738; dated 29th September, 1939.

CIVIL SERVICE ARBITRATION TRIBUNAL DECISION.

LOCALLY ENTERED CLERKS EMPLOYED AT H.M. DOCKYARD, MALTA.—The Civil Service Clerical Association claimed an increase in the overtime rates of locally entered clerks employed in H.M. Dockyard, Malta. The parties were heard on 19th July, 1938, when statements were made by both sides. The hearing was then adjourned sine die to enable the Association to consider certain points which had been raised. The parties subsequently notified the Tribunal that it had been jointly agreed not to proceed with the case.—Award No. 54; dated 28th September, 1939.

Available in a thick quality in rolls 4" wide by 36 yards long, coated with a special adhesive, designed to remain plastic for long periods. The film should be applied direct to the window and over-lapping the frames (as shown in the illustration) allowing a margin of plain glass between each strip. This serves the purpose of holding the whole window together by "binding," thus making it as shock-proof as is reasonably possible.

The Iron Fireman in War time

The rationing of coal and the uncertainty of labour emphasize the great value of the "Iron Fireman" Automatic Stoker for every type of boiler and every type of building. The great saving in fuel costs and the elimination of hand firing of boilers are but two of the many advantages of the "Iron Fireman."

There is a type of "Iron Fireman" for every Industrial, Domestic and Horticultural requirement.
