

PANEL DISCUSSION: WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO IMPROVE NHS PRODUCTIVITY?

EVENT PRIVACY STATEMENT

The Productivity Institute and the Economic Statistics Centre of Excellence (hosted at King's College London) (each a "Host") are co-hosting this event. King's Business School will be hosting the event. Each Host is individually (not jointly) a Controller.

Each Host is individually responsible to you for how that Host respectively stores, uses and processes your personal data in accordance with that Host's privacy policy. One Host is not responsible to you for another Host's storage, use or processing of your data. Actions taken by one Host (e.g. deleting personal data) will be independent of the other Host. If you need to make a data request, please make such request directly to the relevant Host(s). Each Host's privacy policy can be found at:

Economic Statistics Centre of Excellence <https://www.escoe.ac.uk/privacy-cookies/>

The Productivity Institute <https://www.productivity.ac.uk/privacy-policy/>

King's College London <https://www.kcl.ac.uk/terms/privacy>

The Hosts will be taking photographs and filming at the event, which will be used in general promotional material recording or relating to the event, including use with websites, emails, social media and tangible literature. If you have any concerns relating to this, please contact the events coordinator at the Event.

The Hosts also will use your submitted information for the purposes of organising and operating the event, related post event and dissemination activities and assessing the impact of the event. The Hosts may also contact you for feedback or research purposes.

Eventbrite will be used for event registrations. Please note that Eventbrite is a third-party service. Please refer to their terms and conditions and privacy policy as we do not accept any responsibility or liability for their policies: <https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/help/en-gb/articles/460838/eventbrite-privacy-policy/>

By attending the event(s), you agree to each Host collecting and using your personal data in the ways, for the purpose(s) and for the period defined above. If you are applying on behalf of another person, you are confirming their acknowledgement and agreement to these terms.